

About Juanelle McKenzie

This project was inspired by Adnyamathanha / Luritja/ lower southern Arrernte woman, and accomplished artist, Juanelle McKenzie. Juanelle was born in Port Augusta, but grew up in Yappala, near Hawker, where she spent a great deal of time learning from her Elders, immersed in her culture. This is where she draws most of her inspiration to tell the stories she loves, of Yarta (Earth or Land). A mother of three, Juanelle's artistic practice has grown to include teaching and mentoring her children and other family members alongside her mother, Regina McKenzie.

Juanelle has collaborated on this project with her family, Maoriella Stuart (language and translations) and Elders Heather Stuart and Regina McKenzie, who have shared their knowledge which has been passed on to them by their grandfather / father, the late Malcolm McKenzie Snr. This collaboration has ensured that the stories are related accurately, and that translations are, to the best of their ability, true to their culture. However, it is acknowledged that there are several different dialects or language groups within Adnyamathanha, with people identifying as Kuyani-Adnyamathanha, Wailpi-Adnyamathanha, Yadliawarda-Adnyamathanha, Pirlatpa-Adnyamathanha, or simply Adnyamathanha.
